Appendix B Equal Opportunity Actions Requirements

Section I EO Program

B-1. General

America's pluralistic society, characterized by a cross section of diverse, racial, ethnic, and religious identities is reflected in the composition of the command. All Soldiers expect and are entitled to, by law, a working environment and an opportunity for advancement that is unrelated to race, national origin, color, religion, or gender but rather their talent and ambition commensurate with the needs of the organization. USAREC EOAs are being focused on:

- a. Correcting structural deficiencies.
- b. Identifying and eliminating institutional discrimination.
- c. Providing upward mobility opportunity for all personnel, to the limits of their talent and ambition.

B-2. Format

Listed in figures B-1 through B-4 are a series of EOAs that relate directly to the establishment of a climate which promotes fair treatment of all members of the command. Each action identifies a positive means by which an existing deficiency or inequity can be eliminated. Of particular importance is the milestone and timetable schedule which provides means for measuring progress. Proponent agencies for each planned action are responsible for the evaluation of milestones and timetable progress.

Section II EO Education and Training Program

B-3. General

While the Army in many ways has served as a pioneer in combating racial discrimination, it continues to experience some of the effects of the racially motivated divisiveness which today confronts our society. Racial harmony and unit cohesion is so important to mission accomplishment that full-time EO staff members are assigned to HQ USAREC and Rctg Bdes. Additional duty EO personnel are appointed at the recruiting battalion level. Training for additional duty personnel is conducted at United States Army Training and Doctrine Command and United States Army Forces Command supporting installations and by the USAREC EO staff. Additional duty EO personnel will assist local commanders in conducting unit training.

B-4. USAREC EOAs

USAREC EOAs in EO training will emphasize:

- a. Army policies on EO, EOAs, and sexual harassment.
- b. Objectives of the Army EO Program.
- c. Behavioral characteristics and other indicators of EO problems.
- d. The impact of individual and institutional discrimination on mission accomplishment.

e. Identifying and countering sexual harassment.

f. Legal consequences applicable to individuals participating in acts of sexual harassment.

g. Individual responsibilities concerning EO and prevention of sexual harassment.

h. The importance of honest and open interpersonal communications in promoting a healthy EO climate.

i. USAREC EO complaint procedures.

B-5. Format

Figures B-5 and B-6 are a series of planned actions which support the USAREC EOAP training objectives. The milestone and timetable schedule remains important. Proponent staff agencies and subordinate commanders are responsible for evaluating milestone and timetable progress for each planned action.

Part III Assessment

B-6. General

Assessment is conducted continuously at each command level in order to direct management attention and assets to the critical needs of this plan.

B-7. Format

At HQ USAREC, assessment is made through USAREC Form 322 (see fig B-7) and the reports of the USAREC directors and special staff section chiefs.

B-8. Specific instructions

Commanders reporting to HQ USAREC will consolidate USAREC Forms 322 quarterly of subordinate units and forward this consolidated report to HQ USAREC, ATTN: RCPER-EO. The Remarks portion with continuation sheets as required, will be used to narratively report specific actions taken, achievements, difficulties, and other such information deemed pertinent by the commander to accurately portray that command's program.

Section II Terms

background

A description of a situation which has been identified as a condition or method of operation within the scope of a given organization or staff which does not totally support higher headquarters policy, or the continued existence of such conditions and policies which do not ensure the unbiased, equal treatment of all people. The background should reflect facts and, if available, statistical data.

discrimination

Any action which unlawfully or unjustly results in unequal treatment of a person or group of persons based upon distinctions which are not supported by legal or rational considerations.

equal opportunity

Equal evaluation, consideration, and treatment based on merit, fitness, and capability without regard to race, national origin, color, religion, or gender.

Equal Opportunity Action Plan

A comprehensive management document which requires quantified goals and timetables from all Army organizations, units, agencies, and activities down to Rctg Bde or equivalent level designed to achieve EO for all military personnel.

equal opportunity actions

Actions designed to:

- Correct the effects of institutional discriminatory policies and practices.
- Prevent personal and institutional discrimination.
- Provide career development and upward mobility for all qualified personnel regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, or gender.
- Provide mechanisms which require commanders and functional managers to introspectively review all aspects of their personnel operation.

ethnic and racial designations

The following display of racial and ethnic designations provides the standard classifications for data collection and reporting of information required in the annual narrative and statistical report. These designations should not be interpreted strictly along scientific or anthropological lines; rather, they have been developed in response to the legitimate needs of minorities, the Department of Defense, and the Army (source AR 680-29).

Z	Unknown

goal

A statement of intent on the part of the commanders and represents a desired end-state to be attained with the accomplishment of supporting objectives and milestones.

institutional discrimination

Treatment of individuals in an organization which:

- Is correlated with race, national origin, color, religion, or gender.
- Results from the normal functioning of the organization.
- Operates to the consistent disadvantage of a particular group.

minority

Any segment of society which possesses common characteristics significantly different from that of the general population.

objectives and milestones

- Are arranged in a timetable format to facilitate management effort. They are not ceilings, nor are they base figures which are to be reached at the expense of requisite qualifications. EOAs are not quotas.
- Are realistic and attainable with "good faith" effort, time phased, measurable, and within the span of control or responsibility of the commander who will sign the EOAP.
- Development responsibility and accountability for EOA goals will be with the command or staff agency functional managers or proponents with the resources and authority to control or influence the outcome of specific EOAs.

proponent

Must reflect a specific agency designated for each EOAP goal. That agency must logically have the inherent responsibility for that goal as described in applicable directives.

timetable and reporting schedule

Used in conjunction with primary monitoring tools for the EOAP reports. The timetable and reporting schedule may use fiscal or calendar year requirements for its timetable and the reporting schedule may be expressed in quarters or in specific day, month, and year (most desirable). Higher headquarters dates are suspense dates to subordinates.
